USING THIS BOOKLET TO HELP MEET FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) developed financial responsibility regulations to ensure that underground storage tank (UST) owners and operators can pay the costs of cleaning up leaks from USTs and compensate third parties for bodily injury or property damage resulting from leaks.

The financial responsibility regulations (40 CFR, Part 280, Subpart H) allow UST owners and operators to choose from a variety of financial mechanisms to comply with the regulations. One of these financial mechanisms is the use of insurance.

In order to facilitate access to UST insurance, EPA developed this booklet based on information we received from the listed companies, agents, and brokers. The companies, agents, and brokers listed may be able to help you—as an UST owner or operator—find the UST insurance that can fulfil your financial responsibility obligation. See text box on the right for a description of the roles of companies, agents, and brokers.

It is your responsibility to make sure the coverage you are offered meets federal requirements and any state or local requirements that may apply to your USTs.

If your insurer adds your UST coverage to an existing policy, your insurer should provide you with an endorsement that conforms to the "Endorsement" criteria described in §280.97 of the financial responsibility rule (40 CFR, Part 280, Subpart H). If your insurer provides you with a new policy, it should conform to the "Certificate of Insurance" standard also described in §280.97 of the financial responsibility rule. See pages 11 and 12 for these criteria or you can read the rule at:

http://www.epa.gov/OUST/fedlaws/frrule.htm#280.97

Who's Who?

Insurance Company or Insurer
A corporation or association engaged primarily in the business of furnishing insurance to the public. The party to the insurance contract who promises to pay losses or benefits.

Insurance Agent
An insurance company representative who solicits, negotiates or effects contracts of insurance, and provides service to the policyholder for the insurer.

Insurance Broker
A marketing specialist who represents buyers of property and liability insurance and who deals with either agents or companies in arranging for the coverage required by the customer.

PLEASE NOTE:

- The following list is not an endorsement by EPA of the products or services provided by these companies, agents, and brokers.
- You are free to contact anyone you believe can meet your insurance needs.
- The following list is not necessarily comprehensive, because it captures only those who have contacted us to date.

HOW CAN YOU GET THE MOST CURRENT LIST?

The companies, agents, and brokers listed on the following pages have identified themselves as willing to deal with UST insurance. The following is not a comprehensive list, because there are doubtless other companies, agents, and brokers who have not yet identified themselves to us.

We will periodically update the list found in this booklet. The most current version will always be found at our Web site at:

http://www.epa.gov/OUST/pubs/index.htm#insurance

Although we will also update printed copies, it is not practical to update and reprint them as often as we can update the version available at the Web site.

NEED MORE GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT USTs OR FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY?

For additional information, call the EPA Hotline at 800-424-9346 or 703-412-9810. You can request from the Hotline a free copy of Dollars And Sense: Financial Responsibility Requirements for Underground Storage Tanks (EPA 510-K-95-004), a booklet which briefly and clearly summarizes the financial responsibility requirements.

You can also obtain Dollars And Sense, other publications about underground storage tank requirements, and compliance assistance information from EPA's Office of Underground Storage Tanks Web site at the following Internet address:

LIST OF INSURANCE AGENTS AND BROKERS

WANT TO ADD AN INSURER, AGENT, OR BROKER TO THE LIST?

NEED TO REMOVE A PROVIDER FROM THE LIST?

The list of insurers, agents, and brokers in this booklet will be periodically updated. If you are an insurer, agent, or broker who can provide the insurance described in 40 CFR §280.97, please call the RCRA, Superfund & EPCRA Hotline at 800-424-9346 or 703-412-9810. Select to speak with a RCRA Information Specialist. The RCRA Information Specialist will ask for your company's name, address, phone and fax number, Internet address, area of coverage, and the name of a single point of contact within your company. Please be sure to review the requirements in 40 CFR Part 280, Subpart H, specifically §280.97, to ensure that your company can provide insurance that meets those specific requirements. If your company is currently listed, but no longer provides this insurance, please contact the Hotline noted above to report that your company should be removed from the list.
