AIR QUALITY DATA DIRECTORY OF AIR QUALITY MONITORING SITES 1971

INTRODUCTION

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) operates the National Aerometric Data Bank for storage and retrieval of aerometric data collected by local, state, and Federal air pollution control agencies. Also included in the Bank is a limited amount of data collected by private agencies. This directory lists those monitoring sites that collected the aerometric data stored in the Bank. The listings are a condensation of the information contained in the SAROAD Site Identification Forms for each monitoring site. A sample of this form is displayed in Figures 1 and 2. Only those monitoring sites listed with a Federal surveillance system between January 1957 and June 1971 are included in this publication. This site coding information is required for interpretation and analysis of the aerometric data contained in the Bank.

State code numbers are assigned sequentially to an alphabetical listing of state names. For consistency, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico are also assigned state numbers. Within each state, codes are alphabetically assigned to all cities with a population of 2,500 or more, and to all counties, parishes, or planning districts.

Each site is identified by a unique, nine-digit numerical code. The first two digits identify the state; the next four digits identify the city, county, parish, or planning district; and the last three digits identify the particular sampling site within the city, county, parish, or planning district.

Following the nine-digit identification code are a letter denoting the type of agency sampling at that site (Table 1) and a two-digit number indicating the type of project being conducted at the site (Table 2).

50	Effects network-EPA (discontinued in 1970)

For example, 010380001A01 refers to state 01 (Alabama), city 0380 (Birmingham), site 001 (619 South 19th Street), agency type A (EPA group responsible for atmospheric surveillance), and project type 01 (a population-oriented surveillance).

The information about each site is arranged as follows:

(CITY OR COUNTY)

(SITE IDENTIFICATION CODE)	(STATION ADDRESS)	(COUNTY)
(COOPERATING AGENCY)	(SAMPLER HEIGHT)*	(ALTITUDE)

It should be emphasized that a directory of this nature requires constant revision. Corrections and additions of information about existing sites will be made, and information about new monitoring sites will be added. Updates of this directory will be compiled regularly to permit interpretation of the aerometric data stored in the National Aerometric Data Bank.

*Height of sampler above ground, in feet.

Ground level above mean sea level, in feet.
