Saving Money, Reducing Waste is the result of a cooperative effort between the Screenprinting and Graphic Imaging Association International and the New Jersey Small Business Development Center. Funding for the production of the program was made possible by a grant from the US Environmental Protection Agency and the US Small Business Administration.

Saving Money, Reducing Waste

A Short Course In
Pollution Prevention
For Screen Printers

Just $25.00

The scene is a darkened office. A single desk light illuminates a solitary figure, Jonathan Banks, a detective. He produces a file containing a report on his investigation. He sighs, then speaks, "Here it is, the down and dirty on the screen printing industry . . ." What did he find? A number of problems to be sure. But he also found a number of savvy screen printers who are, and have been, working with the solutions. Join Banks in his investigation, and find out how to reduce waste today, as well as save money.

The Program

Saving Money, Reducing Waste, put simply, is a fifteen-minute video program designed to show screen printers how to prevent pollution and minimize waste through improved inventory control procedures, reduced chemical use, work practice changes and employee training. At the same time, however, the program keeps close watch on your ever-important bottom line. In fact, a number of the ideas presented in the video can be instituted for less than one dollar — some cost absolutely nothing. The truth is, this program could pay for itself in less than one day, provided you take the initiative to "get with the program."

The Audience

Saving Money, Reducing Waste has been created with the company owner in mind. It is designed to deliver an easy-to-understand, basic education in the thinking, activities and techniques associated with pollution prevention. The video can also be used as a valuable training tool for your employees by demonstrating management's commitment to waste minimization, waste reduction and environmental protection. The truth is, change within a company must start with a strong visible example from the top. Let Saving Money, Reducing Waste demonstrate this commitment to your employees and concerned clients.

The Presentation

The program is presented in a way that is both entertaining and informative, allowing easy comprehension for even the most non-scientific person in your operation. Even better, the program is priced in keeping with its title — only $25 for SGIA members and Govt. agencies; $35 for non-members.
