Intermittent Bulletin
Volume 4, Number 1

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is adding 42 sites to the National Priorities List (NPL) in a rule published in the Federal Register in May 1994. Of the 42 sites in Final Rule #12, 18 are in the General Superfund Section and 24 in the Federal Facilities Section. The sites are in 22 States. Washington is adding seven sites; Massachusetts is adding six sites; Florida and Maryland are adding three sites; Alaska, California, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and Virginia are adding two sites; and a number of States are adding one site.

The status of the NPL is as follows:

	General	Federal	Total
Proposed	48	6	54
Final	1,082	150	1,232
Final Rule #12	(18)	(24)
Previous Final	(1,064)	(126)
Proposed Plus Final			1,286

EPA is not the lead agency at Federal facility sites, and its role at such sites is accordingly less extensive than at sites in the General Superfund Section. Under Executive Order 12580 and CERCLA Section 120, each Federal agency is responsible for carrying out most response actions at facilities under its own jurisdiction, custody, or control, although EPA is responsible for scoring Federal facility sites.

The NPL identifies uncontrolled hazardous waste sites that warrant further investigation to determine if long-term "remedial action" is necessary. The sites in the General Superfund Section of the NPL are eligible for remedial action funded under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA), enacted on December 11, 1980, as amended by the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act (SARA), enacted on October 17, 1986. SARA authorized a "Hazardous Substances Superfund" totalling $8.5 billion over 5 years to pay costs for overseeing work by those responsible for cleaning up waste sites, and to pay costs not assumed by responsible parties for cleanup at sites in the General Superfund Section of the NPL. In October 1990, SARA was extended to September 30, 1994 to provide an additional $5.1 billion.

EPA's goals for the Superfund program are to:

- Address the worst sites and the worst problems first
- Make sites safe by immediately controlling acute threats to people and the environment
- Develop and use new technologies for more effective cleanups

EPA continually seeks ways to evaluate and clean up sites more quickly. The new "Superfund Accelerated Cleanup Model" (SACM) involves several pilot projects aimed at streamlining the Superfund process. EPA will describe any changes to the process resulting from SACM as they are identified.

This document provides background information on the rule and two lists:

- The names and locations of the 42 Final Rule #12 sites
- The 1,286 final and proposed NPL sites by state

CONTENTS OF RULE

One site in this rule is added based on an Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) Health Advisory:

- Lower Ecorse Creek Dump, Wyandotte, MI

Under this listing mechanism, included in the NCP at 40 CFR 300.425(c)(3), certain sites can be listed whether or not they score above 28.50, if the following conditions are met:

- The ATSDR of the U.S. Public Health Service has issued a health advisory that recommends dissociation of individuals from the release.
- EPA determines that the release poses a significant threat to public health.
- EPA anticipates that it will be more cost-effective to use its remedial authority than to use its removal authority to respond to the release.

Except for the one site added based on ATSDR Health Advisory criteria, all sites in this rule scored 28.50 or greater on the Hazard Ranking System (HRS). EPA's policy is to place Federal facility sites on the NPL if they have an HRS score of 28.50 or greater, even if the Federal facility also is subject to the corrective action authorities of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) Subtitle C. In that way, those sites could be cleaned up under CERCLA, if appropriate. This rule includes 24 Federal facility sites.

EPA emphasizes that designating a site as Federal or non-Federal has no legal significance and is purely informational in nature. Such designation does not determine, or limit, the extent of any Federal agency's obligations under CERCLA Section 120. EPA solicits comments on the most appropriate designation of the site.

OTHER SITE ACTIONS

At the time of the last proposed rule (59 FR 8724, February 23, 1994), 1,191 sites were on the final NPL. With this rule, the number is increased to 1,232. One site was deleted because no further response is required to protect human health and the environment.

- Monroe Township Landfill, Middlesex County, NJ (59 FR 5109, February 3, 1994)

One site has been expanded due to identification of additional areas of contamination.

- Austin Avenue Radiation, Delaware County, PA (57 FR 47204)

Three sites have been reclassified from the General Section to the Federal Facilities Section to more accurately reflect the ownership, location, nature, or potential sources of contamination at the sites. In addition, the names have also been slightly modified to reflect the Federal status of the sites.

- West Virginia Ordnance (USARMY), Point Pleasant, WV (previously West Virginia Ordnance)
- American Lake Gardens/McChord AFB, Tacoma, WA (previously American Lake Gardens)
- New Brighton/Arden Hills/TCAAP (USARMY), Ramsey County, MN (previously New Brighton/Arden Hills)

CONSTRUCTION COMPLETION LIST

EPA has developed the Construction Completion List (CCL) (58 FR 12142, March 2, 1993) to better show the successful completion of Superfund response action at present or former NPL sites. The CCL is intended to enhance public understanding of the status of cleanup progress at sites.

The CCL now totals 235 sites, all but one from the General Superfund Section.

Cleanups at sites on the NPL do not reflect the total picture of Superfund accomplishments. As of April 1994, EPA had conducted 2,397 removal actions, 614 of them at NPL sites. Information on removals is available from the Superfund Hotline.
