The Ag Center maintains the Agency's web portal and is the "first stop" for information about environmental requirements that affect the agricultural community.

Through this web site, the Center offers:

- Newsroom - lists news releases, reports, and other documents of direct importance to the environmental compliance efforts of the agricultural community.

www.epa.gov/agriculture/news/index.html

- Publications - includes links to a wide array of ag-related publications, organized by topic, to help the agricultural community understand how to comply with environmental requirements.

www.epa.gov/agriculture/publications/html

- Listserve - provides subscribers free e-mail notification of updated information on the Ag Center Web site regarding ag-related news from EPA.

www.epa.gov/agriculture/listserv.html

- Where You Live- EPA Regional Offices provide local agriculture information.
