Information
Most EPA technical reports are sold by NTIS. Those are announced by EPA Publications Bibliography; Quarterly Abstract Bulletin, NTISUB/E/042-, $50 per year; and also by the weekly Environmental Pollution and Control, NTISUB/E/068-, $75 per year. The same information is in the biweekly Government Reports Announcements and Index found in a wide variety of libraries. Both GRA&I and EPA Pubs Bib are well indexed; but the best access to this information is the "NTIS Database," because it has the best indexes.
703/ 557-4630
Subscriptions
A microfiche collection of EPA reports published by NTIS may be read in EPA Regional Libraries, entries 43 and 197-271.
If a report's NTIS Order Number (usually "PB" and six or eight digits) is not known, NTIS will give order information by mail to written or recorded inquiries with an exact title or publications number. NTIS does not give specific answers over the telephone. 703/ 557-4780
Recording phone
Regular orders take about three weeks for delivery by fourth class mail. First class mail costs $3.00 extra per paper copy. 703/ 557-4650

"Premium Service"
Orders from outside North America are charged higher rates than those shown in the price list below. There are NTIS-contractor offices in some countries. People outside North America should write NTIS for price quotes, and such inquiries addressed to EPA should be forwarded to NTIS. Airmail outside the U.S. adds $4.00 per item. 703/ 577-4700
"Rush Handling"
To input an EPA publication use EPA Form 2220-1 (documentation/abstract sheet in most reports) and two copies of NTIS Form 79--one addressed to the originating office and one addressed to EPA Headquarters Library (PM-213), 703/ 577-4690
Input Section

Washington, DC 20460. Input requires either eleven paper copies or one copy with a $20 fee. NTIS takes about six weeks to prepare a document for sale.

This NTIS price list (only for North American orders) is likely to become outdated soon.

GPO sells several hundred EPA documents (while NTIS has one hundred EPA titles for every one offered by GPO). Payment must accompany order. Delivery takes two or three weeks.

"EP..." is the SuDocs shelf number for EPA reports in Documents Libraries and is not an order number. But the EP number is useful for ordering when the GPO Stock Number is not known.

GPO sells subscriptions to the Federal Register, a daily "bulletin board" of federal regulatory actions. Parts of recent issues cost 75¢. Also, EPA program offices often distribute new and old FR announcements of their actions.

The annual Code of Federal Regulations (145 volumes) divides all current regulations into fifty subject classifications. Title 40 of CFR (700 subject "Parts" divided among 5 volumes) includes environmental regulations in effect on July 1 each year. Volumes of 40CFR are published separately November through January.

CFR and FR are standard references in federal and law libraries, and in some other libraries.

See also Standards and Regulations Division, entry 58.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS
WHICH DESCRIBE
EPA'S ORGANIZATION AND ACTIVITIES

Listed in order of broad to narrow usage.

- A. Finding Your Way through EPA. An introduction for the public. This 32 (half-size) page pamphlet lists offices down to the division level and defines (in one sentence) the jurisdiction of several dozen of the largest offices. Officials' names, titles and telephone numbers are parts of the organizational listing. An abbreviated organization chart is included. Published annually by OPA, entry 30 and distributed by PIS and PIC, entries 1 and 2.
- B. EPA Headquarters Telephone Directory. The first 33 pages list offices throughout the nation down to the branch level (more detail than "A" above) and include official's names, some titles, mail codes, and telephone numbers. Published annually by Telecommunications, entry 3.
- C. EPA Topical Directory. Lists public contact people for specific EPA topics. The early-1980 draft is meant to elicit corrections from within EPA and will not be distributed outside the agency. A final edition will be published annually by OPA, entry 30, and will be distributed by PIS and PIC, entries 1 and 2.
- D. Legislation, Programs, and Organization. January, 1979. Authorizing legislation for EPA is described in a dozen pages. Descriptions of major programs take 32 pages. The EPA budget is described in four pages. And the organization is outlined. This publication is updated every few years by an office in Resources Management, entry 60. Contact Liz Milstead at 202-472-6254.
- E. Organization Charts--US Environmental Protection Agency. Charts offices down to the division level. Includes officials' names but not mailing and telephone information. Published annually by M&O, entry 41.
- F. Organization and Functions Manual. Defines functions of all offices down to the division level. A division's responsibilities are usually described in half a page. The 200 page manual is updated by pages which are sent to people on a mailing list maintained by Hal Masters, entry 41.

- G. Directory of Regional Officials. EPA officials, offices and telephone numbers. About every year and a half the Office of Regional and Intergovernmental Operations, entry 12, publishes a new listing of about three dozen names for each region.
- H. EPA Journal. Articles and news briefs on a variety of EPA concerns. Published ten times a year by OPA, entry 30, and sold for $12.00 annually by GPO, entry 6.
- I. Pollution Control; The Magazine of Environmental Control and Energy Conservation. January issues have annual reports of EPA offices. Annual subscriptions are sold for $15.00 by Technical Publishing Co., entry 194.
- J. Environmental Quality; The Annual Report of the Council on Environmental Quality. This book reports on progress and problems in resources, energy, wastes, air and water quality, human settlements and the global environment. It is the best single source reviewing the environment each year. Published annually by CEQ, entry 279 and sold for $5.00 by GPO, entry 6--where it frequently sells out.
- K. EPA Publications Bibliography; Quarterly Abstract Bulletin, the catalog of EPA technical reports, is described in entry 5, NTIS.
