Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Region 5 is responsible for implementing the federal laws designed to protect the environment in the six Great Lakes Basin states: Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, and Wisconsin. Questions and decisions concerning air, water, and land affect nearly every aspect of our lives. The organizational structure of Region 5 is designed so that 11 divisions and offices manage these environmental programs, as well as to regulate the Agency's internal functions. To speak to someone in Region 5 about an environmental problem, contact the Office of Public Affairs (OPA) at (312) 886-7935 to direct you to someone in the Region to answer your questions more specifically.

The eleven divisions and offices within U.S. EPA, Region 5 are:

- Air and Radiation Division
- Environmental Sciences Division
- Great Lakes National Program Office
- Office of Criminal Investigations
- Office of Public Affairs
- Office of Regional Counsel
- Office of the Inspector General
- Office of the Regional Administrator
- Planning and Management Division
- Waste Management Division
- Water Division

U.S. EPA Labs and Facilities - Located in Region 5

Center for Environmental Research Information

26 W. Martin Luther King Drive
Cincinnati, OH 45268

FTS: 684-7562

Comm: (513) 569-7562

Develops, produces, and distributes technical reports, including technology transfer materials for EPA's Office of Research and Development.

Central Regional Laboratory

536 S. Clark Street

Chicago, IL 60605

(312) 353-8370

Provides laboratory analyses for all EPA programs - primarily air, water, and toxins.

Environmental Criteria and Assessment Office

26 W. Martin Luther King Drive

Cincinnati, OH 45268

FTS: 684-7301

Comm: (513) 569-7532

Conducts scientific assessments of health and ecological effects of chemicals; produces ambient water quality criteria documents.

Environmental Monitoring and Support Laboratory

26 W. Martin Luther King Drive

Cincinnati, OH 45268

FTS: 684-7301

Comm: (513) 569-7301

Develops quality assurance and analytical methods for determination of pollutants in effluent and contaminants in water supplies.

Environmental Research Laboratory

6201 Congdon Blvd.

Duluth, MN 55804

FTS: 780-5586

Comm: (218) 720-5586

Investigates how pollutants affect plants and animals in freshwater. Involved with pesticides and asbestos.

Large Lakes Research Station

The Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources (DENR) is responsible for conducting research and State environmental impact studies. DENR maintains two offices:

100 W. Randolph Suite 11-600
Chicago, IL 60601
(312) 971-3870

325 W. Adams Street
Springfield, IL 62704
(217) 785-3411

The seven-person, governor-appointed Illinois Pollution Control Board (IPCB) hears enforcement cases. On the recommendation of IEPA, these cases are filed through the Office of the Illinois Attorney General, which then files with the IPCB. The IPCB also publishes a free weekly newsletter, The Environmental Register, which lists all hearings and proposed rules and regulations on environmental matters in Illinois. Contact:

Colleges/Universities

Most of the 143 colleges and universities in Illinois have environmental programs, in various academic departments. By getting in touch with a local college or university it should be possible to track down information that you may need.

We list the University of Illinois, which has a number of departments related to the environment, because it is the State's land-grant college. It is the center of Illinois' Cooperative Extension Service, whose experts on a number of environmental matters including pesticides are found in every county of the State. To find the advisor nearest you, consult your telephone directory.

INDIANA

IF AN IMMEDIATE HEALTH HAZARD EXISTS FROM A POLLUTION PROBLEM, ACCIDENT, OR SPILL IN YOUR AREA, CALL THE STATE OF INDIANA'S 24-HOUR EMERGENCY NUMBER (317) 241-4336 OR THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY RESPONSE CENTER, U.S. COAST GUARD AT 1-800-424-8802 (REFERS TO APPROPRIATE AGENCIES FOR CLEAN UP OF OIL AND CHEMICAL SPILLS). BOTH NUMBERS ARE ALSO LISTED ON THE INSIDE BACK COVER.

The Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM) was created to perform environmental duties formerly handled by the Indiana State Board of Health. If you have a question about the environment as it relates to health in Indiana, or wish to receive printed materials about environmental matters, including the free bi-monthly newsletter The Indiana Environment and the monthly calendar of events, contact:

Colleges/Universities

Most of the 47 colleges and universities in Indiana have environmental programs, in various academic departments. By getting in touch with a local college or university it should be possible to track down information that you may need.

We list Purdue University, which has a number of departments related to the environment, because it is the State's land-grant college. It is the center of Indiana's Cooperative Extension Service, whose experts on a number of environmental matters including pesticides are found in every county of the State. To find the advisor nearest you, consult your telephone directory.

Colleges/Universities

Most of the colleges and universities in Michigan have environmental programs, in various academic departments. By getting in touch with a local college or university it should be possible to track down information that you may need.

We list Michigan State University, which has a number of departments related to the environment, because it is the State's land-grant college. As such, it is the center of Michigan's Cooperative Extension Service, whose experts on a number of environmental matters including pesticides are found in every county of the State.

We also list the University of Michigan, which also plays a major role in environmental studies, because it is affiliated with the U.S. Dept. of Commerce's State Sea Grant Program. In the Great Lakes region, these programs concentrate on water safety, fisheries, toxic substances, and wetland resources. Each includes advisory agents for public education and information.

MINNESOTA

MINNESOTA

IF AN IMMEDIATE HEALTH HAZARD EXISTS FROM A POLLUTION PROBLEM, ACCIDENT, OR SPILL IN YOUR AREA, CALL THE STATE OF MINNESOTA'S 24-HOUR EMERGENCY NUMBER (612) 296-8100 OR THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY RESPONSE CENTER 1-800-424-8802 (REFERS TO APPROPRIATE AGENCIES FOR OIL AND CHEMICAL SPILLS). BOTH NUMBERS ARE ALSO LISTED ON THE INSIDE BACK COVER.

If you have a question about the environment in Minnesota, need to know where to take a specific complaint, or wish to receive printed materials about environmental matters, including the free bimonthly newsletter, Minnesota Environment, contact:

REGIONAL PLANNING AGENCIES

---

There are many other local and regional planning agencies in each State. We have included most agencies that currently receive EPA funding. Planning agencies are also involved in land use planning, solid waste planning, farmland preservation, and other environmental matters. Look for your local planning agency in the telephone directory, under "government" listings.

Colleges/Universities

Most of the colleges and universities in Minnesota have environmental programs, in various academic departments. By getting in touch with a local college or university it should be possible to track down information that you may need.

We list the University of Minnesota, which has a number of departments related to the environment, because it is the State's land-grant college. As such it is the center of Minnesota's Cooperative Extension Service, whose experts on a number of environmental matters including pesticides are found in every county of the State.

We also list it as an affiliate of the U.S. Department of Commerce's State Sea Grant Program. In the Great Lakes region, these programs concentrate on water safety, fisheries, toxic substances, and wetland resources. Each includes advisory agents for public education and information.

Colleges/Universities

Most of the colleges and universities in Ohio have environmental programs, in various academic departments. By getting in touch with a local college or university it should be possible to track down information that you may need.

We list the Ohio State University which has a number of departments related to the environment, because it is the State's land-grant college. As such it is the center of Ohio's Cooperative Extension Service, whose experts on a number of environmental matters including pesticides are found in every county of the State.

We also list it as an affiliate of the U.S. Department of Commerce's State Sea Grant Program. In the Great Lakes Region, these programs concentrate on water safety, fisheries, toxic substances, and wetland resources. Each includes advisory agents for public education and information.

---

There are many other local and regional planning agencies in each State. We have included most agencies that currently receive EPA funding. Planning agencies are also involved in land use planning, solid waste planning, farmland preservation, and other environmental matters. Look for your local planning agency in the telephone directory, under "government" listings.

Colleges/Universities

Most of the 58 colleges and universities in Wisconsin have environmental programs in various academic departments. By getting in touch with a local college or university it should be possible to track down information that you may need.

We list the University of Wisconsin, which has a number of departments related to the environment, because it is the State's land grant college. As such it is the center of Wisconsin's Cooperative Extension Service, whose experts on a number of environmental matters including pesticides are found in every county of the State. To find the advisor nearest you, consult your telephone directory.

We also list it as an affiliate of the U.S. Department of Commerce's State Sea Grant Program. In the Great Lakes region, these programs concentrate on water safety, fisheries, toxic substances, and wetland resources. Each include advisor agents for public education and information.
