Introduction

What This Catalog Does

EPA forms are designed to improve the flow of information, thereby making your paperwork more efficient, less tedious, and generally easier. This catalog is provided to help you find the best form for your needs. It identifies all EPA Headquarters and Agencywide forms. There are also lists of new forms created or forms declared obsolete since publication of the last catalog. It tells you where forms are stocked and how to order forms.

Getting the Form You Need

Paper Forms: First, check this catalog to identify the form and to find out where it is stocked. The stock location is indicated by a letter code, which is explained below. If it is not stocked locally, fill out a Publications/Forms Request (EPA Form 2360-1) and submit it to your Forms Officer.

If you can't find a form to fill your need, contact your Forms Officer. She/he may be able to find a form for you or, if there is no form available, will work with you to create a new form.

Electronic Forms: Several forms are now available on IBM-PC-compatible format and/or Apple Macintosh compatible format and can be printed, with or without fill-in data, on your desktop laser printer. Forms that are available electronically are indicated by an asterisk (*) before the form number, and there is a separate list of electronic forms. To obtain a diskette containing a form, to have an existing form converted to electronic media, or for further information, contact the Headquarters Forms Office.

Location of the Headquarters Forms Office

The Forms Office is a part of the Information Management and Services Division, Information Management Branch (Mail Code PM-211D). It is located in room 2003 of the Waterside Mall Building, phone (202-~~or FTS~~) 382-5142, E-Mail box EPA3239.

Catalog Terminology

Form Number: The form number is derived from the Classification Numbering System as described in the Directives Management Manual. The number is in the form xxxx-xx, with the first four digits being the classification series, and the digits after the dash being assigned in sequence, generally in the order in which the forms in a given classification series were developed.

Standard and Optional Forms: Standard Forms (SF) are prescribed for Government-wide use, and their use is mandatory for their relevant purposes; thus, if you wish to apply for a Federal job, you must use SF 171, Application for Federal Employment. Optional Forms (OF) are prescribed for use by two or more agencies, and may be used by others; you may use OF 41, Routing and Transmittal Slip, or you may develop a route slip of your own.

How To Use the "Current Forms" Section of This Catalog

Numerical Listing: Forms are listed in order according to the numbering system described above. Find the classification series number in the Table of Contents, turn to the indicated page, and you will find the form in sequential number order within the classification series.

Alphabetical and Functional Listings: Alternatively, you may look up a form in the alphabetical list of form titles or by function (such as Reporting, Requesting, etc.)

Public-Use Forms: Many EPA Forms are used to gather information from the public. These forms must be cleared by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), and may not be used after the expiration date of the clearance. The forms are listed by EPA Form Number and by OMB Clearance Number.

Explanation of Columns and Codes

Edition Date: The edition date indicates the date the current version of the form was printed. Normally, a new edition of a form will supersede all previous editions.

Originating Office: The code shown is the current mail code of the Headquarters office responsible for the form. You should contact the originating office for information on how to use the form. Also, if the Stock Code for a form is "C," the originating office will be the only place that maintains a stock of the form.

Unit of Issue: The unit of issue indicates the physical characteristics of the form. The units of issue are abbreviated as follows:

Sht	a single sheet of paper (normally one or two pages)
Set	a multicopy form, using either interleaved carbon paper or carbonless paper
Card	a postcard as well as a form printed on heavy paper (card stock)
Pam	a pamphlet, usually bound, consisting of several pages of forms and often including instructions

Stock Code: The stock code indicates where supplies of the forms are maintained. The codes are as follows:

A	Forms and Publications Distribution Center (FPDC), Cincinnati, OH 45268
B	Headquarters Self-Service Store (SSS), Room G-100, Waterside Mall
C	Originating office only
D	Other facilities (e.g., the General Services Administration, the National Technical Information Service, EPA-RTP, etc.)
