MANAGEMENT AND ORGANIZATION DIVISION

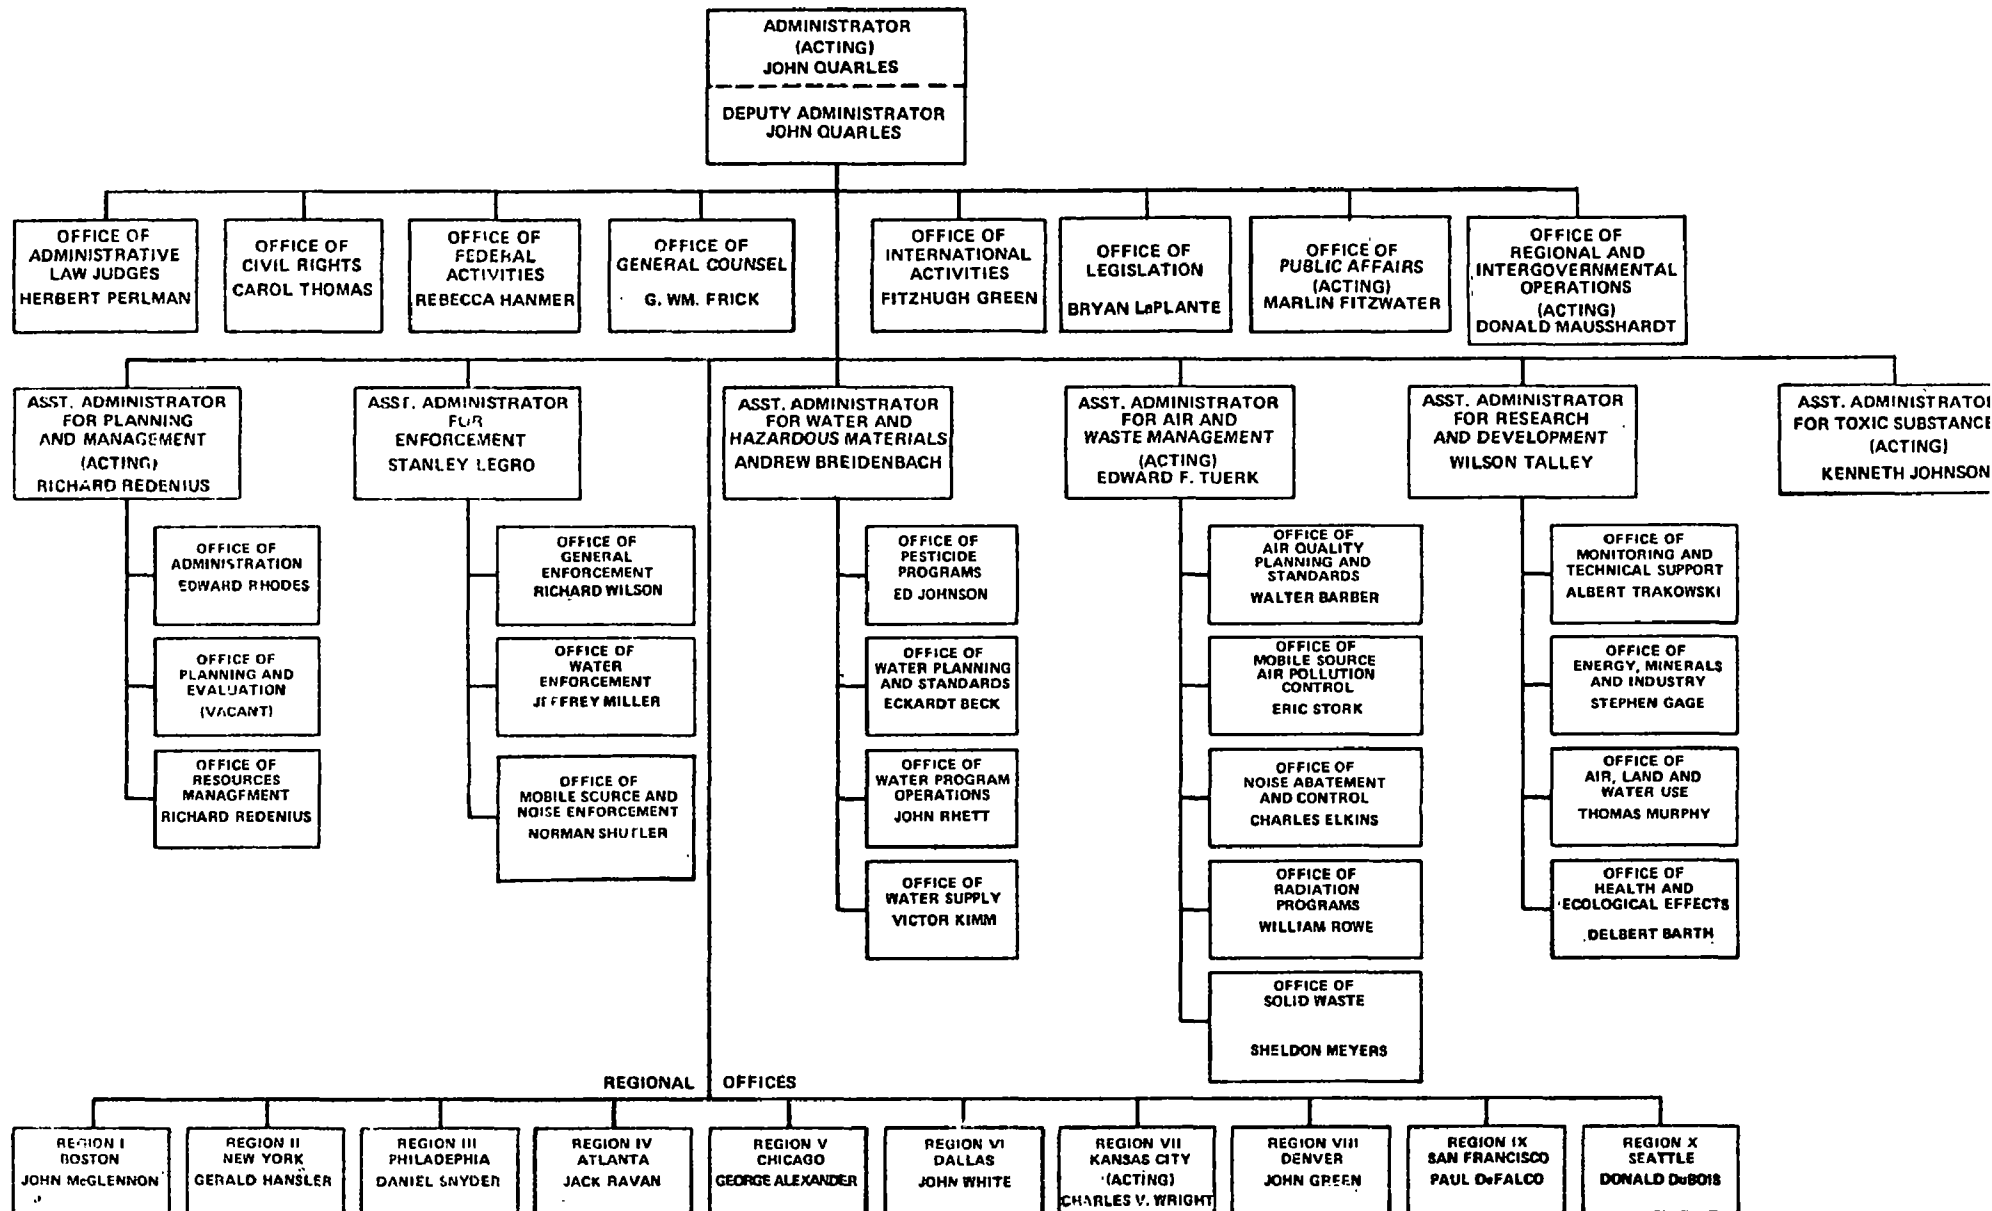

Under current EPA procedures, Division-level changes in organizational structure, functions, title, or reporting relationships must receive prior approval by the Administrator. Branch-level changes in EPA Headquarters require similar approval from the Assistant Administrator for Planning and Management.

This review process is intended to insure that organizational proposals are based on a sound program and management rationale, have considered possible adverse management and program impacts, and have assessed the impact on other "interdependent" EPA organizations.

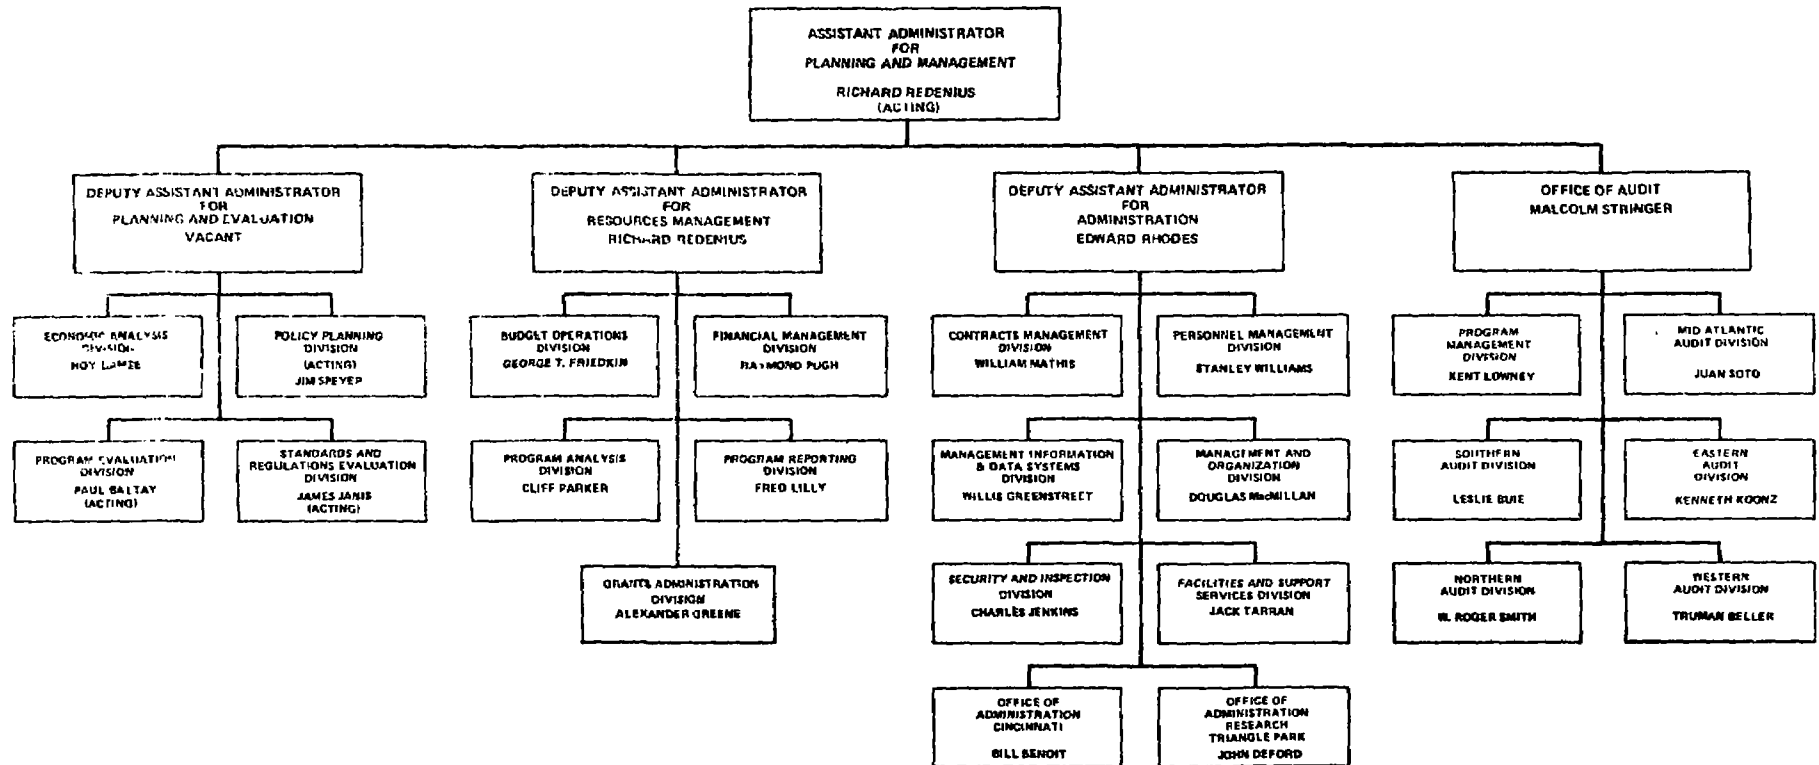

In summary, the organizational process is as follows:

- . Program office determines that some form of reorganization would be beneficial and develops general conceptual outline.
- . Program office confers with Management and Organization Division, Office of Administration. MOD provides technical assistance in fully developing options and/or the preparation of required background materials.
- . Program offices submits an "organizational impact statement" (EPA Form 1110-1) assessing pros and cons of planned move.
- . Management and Organization Division reviews impact-statement, and circulates materials on "major" reorganizations to other affected EPA offices for comment. Conceptual outline of proposed "major" organization simultaneously circulated to Headquarters union for information.
- . Action memo, summarizing comments and MOD recommendations forwarded to Administrator or Assistant Administrator for Planning and Management -- as appropriate.
- . Proposal approved or disapproved. If approved, process initiated to input automated personnel system and revise Organization and Functions Manual.
